PETITIONING THE COURT

To modify the conditions of supervision as follows:

- 14 You shall participate in the home confinement program for 130 days. You shall abide by all the requirements of the program, which will include electronic monitoring or other location verification system. You shall pay all or part of the costs of the program based upon your ability to pay.

CAUSE

Marco Delano Carr appeared before the Court on April 8, 2009, for his revocation hearing. The defendant was found in violation of his supervision violations and was sentenced to five months confinement, followed by up to 180 days at a residential reentry center (RRC). Mr. Carr entered the Franklin County RRC on August 25, 2009, and was scheduled to complete his RRC time on February 19, 2010. Mr. Carr had two minor infractions at the RRC for possessing his cellular telephone in an unauthorized area and he was subsequently terminated from the facility on October 14, 2009. The defendant completed 50 days at the RRC.

Although Mr. Carr was terminated from the RRC, he was compliant with reporting to U.S. Probation, obtaining his substance abuse assessment, and abstaining from controlled substance use. He was scheduled to start Relapse Prevention at First Steps Community Counseling Services on October 20, 2009. At this time, this officer respectfully recommends the Court consider modifying the defendant's RRC requirement by allowing the defendant to serve the remaining time on home confinement. This would grant the defendant the opportunity to continue receiving treatment services and continue seeking employment. Home confinement will allow the supervising probation officer to monitor the defendant more closely.

It should be noted that the defendant has expressed an interest in participating in the Sobriety Treatment and Education Program (STEP).
